MR. R.B. STRIMPLE B.A., B.D. JOINS FACULTY

The College is happy to announce the appointment of Mr. Robert Strimple of Paterson, New Jersey to the Theology department. He replaces Rev. T. R. Maxwell who left for further studies.

Born into a Christian family in Delaware, Mr. Strimple was led by his parents to saving faith in Christ. According to him, "my greatest spiritual growth did not come until I entered the University of Delaware".

It was at University that he became president of the I.V.C.F., which position not only brought spiritual growth, but here he also met the I.V.C.F. secretary, who eventually became his wife!

Mr. Strimple majored in history, (taking education courses as well, and receiving a High School teaching certificate). When he graduated it was as first in the class, having also won a Phi Beta Kappa key.

While at University, his first aims were law or government service, but somewhere along the line came the call from God, clear and insistent. In the will of God he went to Westminster Seminary in Philadelphia where he received his B.D. degree.

During seminary he felt that teaching on the Mission field was the goal, but the Lord led otherwise. A scholarship provided a year of post graduate study in theology under Dr. John Murray. When that was completed he worked for a year teaching at Eastern Christian Schools in Paterson, New Jersey. Then the Lord led him to T.B.C. where his training in theology and love for missions will have ample scope.

When writing of his reaction to the call to T.B.C. he said: "Here is an inter-denominational school, committed to the authority of God's Word, and devoted to the task of training men and women to preach the Gospel to all nations. What a precious privilege to have a part in such an undertaking."

So, from T.B.C. and its worldwide circle of friends and alumni, a warm welcome to Mr. and Mrs. R. Strimple, Marsha (3) and Stephen (10 months).

Special Counselling Seminars

was fortunate in being able to arrange a two day visit for Dr. Clyde Narramore, noted Christian Psychologist, lecturer, counsellor and author. A specialist in counselling and family life education, Dr. Narramore is a graduate of Columbia University and consulting psychologist on the staff of the Los Angeles Superintendent of Schools, with some 500 psychologists to whom he is available for consultation. He also carries on a daily radio ministry; "Psychology for Living".

Since the planned sessions were of interest to all Christian workers, they were thrown open to the public, and many took advantage of this unique opportunity, and the auditorium was full for nearly every class.

The first session was held on Friday, October 13, when lectures were suspended and Dr. Narramore answered student questions (out of 65 submitted) that pointed up the need of special counselling in psychology.

In the afternoon his seminars dealt with the "Basic Concepts of Counselling". Narramore maintained that counselling should be individual, deserves our best attention and should be heard out, even though the real problem may be hidden by "sparring".

In his lecture, he also suggested that some counselling is crude, yanking out information instead of letting it come out in its own time. Most problems have several sides, and the complete problem should be seen. The whole seminar set a good pattern for almost any counselling session.

On Friday evening there was a full auditorium to hear some more questions answered, and then the main session on "The Nine Psychological Needs of Man": A Need for love and affection; Freedom from guilt; A Sense of belonging; To know and understand; Freedom from fear; Economic security; Make a Contribution to life; Achieve success in Life; Have a faith that endures. It was a masterly summation of all that drives man along the road of life.

On Saturday afternoon, he continued the discussion on professional counselling techniques, providing invaluable help for Christian workers.

The latter part of the afternoon session dealt with the problems of sex that are so often brought to the Christian, and need prayerful and careful counselling.

Dr. Narramore spoke frankly of the problems and possible solutions, his knowledge of Scripture and spiritual insights raising the subject to its proper place.

The final session found the auditorium completely filled, as Dr. Narramore spoke on "The Marks of Maturity". It was a masterly, scriptural address on "growing up" in the Lord. It was a message that spoke to all hearts and should bear its own marks in the days that lie ahead.

This group of seminars and sessions with Dr. Narramore was one of the significant services that T.B.C. seeks to render to students and Christian workers alike. Plans are being discussed to contribute like services again, as a help to those seeking to serve the Lord.

From his many friends in Toronto, we send Dr. Narramore our sincere thanks and warm appreciation for his selfless loving ministry in our midst. You must come back again!

T.B.C. SHARES IN N.S.S.A. CONVENTION

The National Sunday School Association (Toronto and District) saw three days of intensive Sunday School workshops and know-how sessions during November 2, 3, 4.

Mr. Jack Scruton, (E.C. '54-'56) was Chairman, and Rev. W. Crump '49 Director of Music, shared platform duties with him.

The T.B.C. Chorale, Trio and Male Quartette provided special music on the Friday night.

A special T.B.C. booth provided a good publicity opportunity, and much literature distributed and questions answered.

One of the speakers, Miss Jane Scott, columnist for the Toronto Telegram (Adventures with God) spoke briefly one night. Among other things, she said: "I am a product of the Sunday School and of Toronto Bible College". It is good to know that for 67 years such "products" have gone out into the world, to serve the Lord Jesus Christ.

Sunday School workers in the Toronto area should know that our evening classes might help them to do a more effective job.

With 2,000 delegates from Churches and Sunday Schools, and hundreds of other interested visitors, the Sunday School Association provided new impetus for the Sunday School. The need was emphasized by the theme, Now More Than Ever — The Whole Family Needs the Sunday School.

SCHOOL NEWS

★ Ever sat through a three-hour sermon, so thrilled and challenged that you scarcely noticed the passing of the time? Well, on September 13th some of us did just that, the Faculty, their wives, and Mr. Charles Stephens, the Chairman of the Board, and Mrs. Stephens.

Why three hours? Well that is the time taken by the freshman class (and now there are 73 of them!) to tell why each member had come to T.B.C., how they had come, and some of the ways that the Lord had led them along the pathway. What a fascinating time it was, despite the muggy heat, and what a cross-section of Christian experience was revealed to us!

What did we hear? That "His ways are past finding out". Some of the students saw our advertisements, while others read our literature. A few had heard students speak; some attended our annual "Open House" where they tasted the good T.B.C. life; others were at the Graduation Service or heard the Chorale sing in a Church. Alumni members shared largely in the ministry of counselling these young people, while others had heard Faculty members speak. A doctor on furlough from Africa wanted more Bible training and he entered; another doctor and his wife are planning on missionary service, so she (a nurse) is in day classes and he is taking evening classes. A commercial artist, several nurses and teachers, an advertising executive, and many others are here.

Five of them came from the Church of an alumnus; one from missionary parents in Pakistan; another lived in the Middle East with his missionary family, and still another had been born in China and is planning on service among Muslims.

Nationally, they came from the U.S.A., Jamaica, Estonia, Pakistan, Hong Kong, Holland and, of course Canada. Denominationally, they represent 13 branches of the Christian Church, but at T.B.C. they are "all one in Christ Jesus".

Why are they here? The testimony of all was: "To prepare for Christian service wherever the Lord should lead me". Now it is OUR GOD-given task to help train them for that place of service. And it is YOUR task to support by prayer and gifts (and both are so essential) the place that will train them, YOUR Bible College.

★ We have been privileged to see some very stirring and unusual films this year, including the Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship film of the "Urbana Conference", as a prelude to some of our students going down there the latter part of December. Perhaps one of the most provocative films that we will ever see was "Question 7", the Lutheran film that poses the question of what a Christian would do in a communist society. It was a most moving and stirring experience, and one that made students ask themselves: "What would I do in a like circumstance?"

Then as part of our Church History program the film "Martin Luther" was shown for the students to catch an insight into the very important period of the Reformation.

★ Missionary speakers this term have been Mr. Arnold Vander Meulin of the Pacific Garden Mission; Miss Grace Woodcock of the Bolivian Indian Mission; Dr. R. Foster of the South Africa General Mission; Rev. Victor Veary of the Sudan United Mission; Rev. J. Kuhn of the China Inland Mission; Rev. W. Wilson of the China Inland Mission; Mr. J. Mason of the Sudan Interior Mission; Rev. George Weppler of the Africa Inland Mission; and Rev. V. Newbrander of the Far Eastern Gospel Crusade, and the Misses Punt and Verboom of the Bible Club movement. These men and women have brought us times of inspiration, challenge, and information regarding the work of the Lord in overseas fields.

★ It was a special privilege for the students to have Dr. Clyde Narramore, famed Christian Psychologist speaking at the school for two days. Not only did they get some know-how in the work of counselling, but many of them received personal help for themselves.

★ This term we have also said farewell to Mr. Tom, B.Th. '60, and Mrs. (Freda Lamb '59) Harland who left on November 3rd for New Guinea under the Un-evangelized Fields Mission. They were presented with a gift of money from the student body.

★ The question of the month: "Where is Mbongo?" Anyone knowing please enlighten the editor.

AUDITORIUM REDECORATED

Through the anonymous gift of a friend of the College, the drab auditorium has been transformed into a "chamber of light". Walls and ceiling were painted, new lights installed, and new floor covers laid down the aisles and on the platform.

What a refreshing, bright room it now is. Our sincere thanks to "Anonymous" and a prayer for God's blessing on you and yours.

LOOKING AHEAD

The Building Committee reports the urgent need for outside repairs and painting. The present estimate makes it impossible to consider just now, unless some friends would like to help.

It is many years since any outside work has been done, so we feel it to be an urgent need. Pray about your share in it.

ANY VEGETABLES?

It may be too late, but if you are overly supplied with vegetables or fruit, (fresh or canned) our dining room can always use them.

We supply meals at cost to the students, and gifts in this way help us to keep them well fed.

We'll be happy to pick up any supplies within a reasonable distance from Toronto.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

For several years, a small group of women (wives of Board members, of Faculty, and Alumni) have worked in and around T.B.C. to good effect. They have been particularly interested in the residence and some of the other areas that need a woman's touch.

Any of our Alumni or friends who would be interested in working in the T.B.C. Women's Auxiliary, please write:

Rev. C. E. Falconbridge, Executive Secretary, 14 Spadina Rd., Toronto.

1962 WALL CALENDARS AVAILABLE

The new 1962 T.B.C. Wall Calendar is now available. Produced in two colors and carrying pictures of Students, Faculty, Staff and Student Activities on every page, it is a beautiful production.

The Calendars are available, singly or in quantities (with envelopes for mailing) at 25c each, — 5 for $1.00.

Order for yourself or friends. Please do not send cash through the mail. Make cheques payable to Toronto Bible College.

STEPS TO THE MISSION FIELD

Douglas C. Percy

Are missionaries a special group of people with a vision that sends them to preach Christ in faraway places? In some ways, the answer "Yes". But I am going to say "No!" A missionary is simply one who loves the Lord and wants to make Him known to others.

When one accepts Christ as Saviour, it means he becomes involved in all His work: "As the Father hath sent Me, so send I you" (John 20:21). That work is worldwide, and the Christian must be prepared to say: "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord."

Being a missionary overseas doesn't just "happen". Here are some steps: STEP 1. Have you fully given your life to the Lord Jesus Christ? Are you ready for anything that He would have you do? Then be where He can speak to you. Don't neglect your devotional life: prayer, Bible study, reading missionary literature; do some real old-fashioned thinking.

STEP 2. You should have training, particularly Bible training, since missionary work is primarily a spiritual work. Think of Bible College. Even if you have other types of training, it is vital to know your Bible. T.B.C. has a Bible centred curriculum for you.

STEP 3. Read about missions; listen to missionaries. Absorb all you can. Soon a country or a society will become clearer as a possibility for your place of service.

STEP 4. When you feel warm to a mission, write a letter, giving information about yourself.

STEP 5. They will ask for a preliminary questionnaire to be filled out. If that is all right, you will fill out a full application paper.

STEP 6. Your application has been accepted? A time of probation in mission home or candidate school is next.

STEP 7. Now compile a list of interested friends who love the Lord. Write a letter (as personal as possible) to each one. Ask for prayer for the next steps to be taken and needs to be met.

STEP 8. The next step is usually "deputation" work. This is not a fund-raising campaign, although the Lord may use it to supply outfit, passage, and support. This step is to elicit prayer support from people who will "hold the ropes".

STEP 9. If your mission advises it, take a course in linguistics, particularly if you don't know much about other languages.

STEP 10. Missions usually look after passport, visas, and travel tickets. If not, seek expert advice. Don't get stranded on some foreign shore as an unwanted alien!

STEP 11. The field at last. For the first year keep your eyes and ears open, and your mouth shut. Don't be critical or incompatible. Life is too busy, the task too big, and the need too urgent to allow petty things to disrupt.

Alumni News

CROWDS RETURN FOR ALUMNI-AT-HOME

The Annual Alumni-At-Home held on the opening day of school each year, brought a tremendous response on September 11, 1961 and it was wonderful to see so many of our T.B.C. Alumni coming back, many of them paying their first visit to the school in many, many years.

During the supper hour, which taxed the College Dining room to capacity, it seemed as though every tenth person was a Missionary. Indeed this might have been so, since sixteen Missionaries responded to the roll call, and it was wonderful to see the tested veterans of the Foreign Fields getting up and telling about the good hand of God for the past 30, 40, and 50 years; and to see Missionaries home on their first furlough saying almost the very same thing of their term. Who will forget seeing Mr. and Mrs. Silas Fox from India; the Rev. and Mrs. John Proctor from South Africa; Rev. and Mrs. Victor Veary of French Equatorial Africa; Miss M. Davis and Miss Bertha Belch from the Congo; Rev. and Mrs. E. Harrison from Nigeria; Mrs. V. James from the Congo; Miss R. Paterson from the Congo; Miss Bertha Zimmerman from Ethiopia; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Askey who turned things around by being South Africans serving with the S.A.G.M. and coming to Canada for a furlough! Then there were Mr. and Mrs. R. Harrison who were to leave the next day for Mexico; and a welcome home was given to Miss Marg Bevington and Mrs. Merle Cox both of whom are home from Africa, one from Dahomey and the other from Nigeria.

As we sat listening to their testimonies of what they had seen and known since last they were at T.B.C. we suddenly realized what a tremendous story could be written of the T.B.C. Alumni around the world. They are men and women who are making history, in these history making, history shaking days. It was with a glow of thankfulness that we heard each one of them tell how they were merely marking time, champing at the bit, anxious to get back to their field of service once more.

The second section of the Alumni-home-coming was held in the College Auditorium, and the high-light of course, was the presentation of the beautifully embossed and framed certificates for the Golden Mile Chapter — those who had graduated 50 years or more ago from the Toronto Bible College. The Rev. H. Troyer presided over this with his usual aplomb, his flashes of wit and humour, and with a phenomenal memory for those who had graduated as he did at least 50 years ago.

"Mother" McNicol was made an honorary member, as was Mr. Inrig who had served more than 40 years on the Board, and the past 10 years or so as the president of the College. It was fitting that Mr. Simmonds the principal, should also be made an honorary member, as also was Mr. Falconbridge the new Alumni Secretary, and the Rev. William Tyler who has given so much service as president of the Alumni Association in past years, and an office which he is taking up for this coming year.

Mr. Troyer spoke very warmly and lovingly of his beloved wife who was too ill to join in this celebration for the Golden Mile Chapter. Those who were presented with the Certificates were Miss A. Barlow 1911; Dr. I. Erb 1911; Mrs. A. Rothney 1910; Miss A. Garbutt 1909; Miss M. Boyer 1908; Miss N. McFarland 1908; Dr. E. S. Fish 1905; Dr. C. J. Loney 1904; Miss B. McAuslan 1903; Mrs. T. F. Barker 1899, who told how she left T.B.C. to go as a missionary to Turkey, at the turn of the century when it was a risk of life to go there when that country was in such a state of upheaval. It was a joy to see Mr. George Elliot a grad of 1895 who has given so much time and strength and wise counselling to the work of the South Africa General Mission and the Y.M.C.A. receive his certificate. Finally there was Dr. A. E. Armstrong who has served for many years with the United Church of Canada a graduate of 1896-97, and the Venerable Archdeacon A. C. McCollum of 1910.

The other high-light of the meeting was a message by the Rev. Victor Veary, whose work with the Sudan United Mission in the Tchad area of Equatorial Africa has been so outstanding, that the Government gave him the highest Civilian Decoration that they could award. Almost immediately after Mr. Veary received this award, his wife and Miss Ella Hildebrand '29 were also given the same high honour. While the Christian missionary does not look for honour from men, it is good to know that the Lord's servants are doing a task that the world must notice. It is consecrated living and working at its highest, a record that is written down in heaven, and where true rewards will be given out.

For those of the Alumni members who missed the home coming, all we can say is that you should put down in your diary now, a visit to T.B.C. on the opening day of school which will be September 10, 1962!

LETTERS FROM OUR ALUMNI THANK GOD FOR T.B.C.

"I rejoice with the way the Lord is leading the school into an ever expanding ministry."

"At T.B.C. I received a foundation that has been solid and fruitful for my ministry today. I am grateful for the years spent in the classes under the leadership of godly men and women at T.B.C. Please use the enclosed where it is most needed."

A.T.S., Baptist Minister.

A GIFT FROM HAWAII

"Greetings in His Precious Name. I am sorry for the delay in getting this gift ($10.00) off in answer to your letter at Christmas. The Wall Calendar is excellent and I personally am glad to have this constant reminder of the College before me.

"The Lord is graciously blessing our ministry here in Hawaii and we have had the joy of seeing souls saved here on Maui, Hawaii, I believe, is probably the most cosmopolitan place between East and West and we thank the Lord for the opportunity to reach so many racial groups. We have six racial groups attending our little churches. How thankful we are that the Lord has broken all barriers down and believers are one in Christ.

"We trust that the Lord will continue to bless the ministry of T.B.C. and that many young people will find the Lord's best for their lives as they sit under the faithful ministry there. We do appreciate the Prayer Fellowship Calendar which has been coming to us for so many years. Would it be possible for you to include our request for a Japanese language pastor, and for special prayer for our Christian Day School?"

E. T., Missionary in Hawaii

THE SIMPLIFIED NEW TESTAMENT

By Olaf M. Norlie
Zondervan Publishing House
$4.95 ($3.95 until December 1961.)

This is a new translation of the New Testament in modern English. It is intended particularly for young people and therefore stresses simplicity in style and vocabulary. The New Testament is the work of Professor O. M. Norlie of Northfield, Minnesota and the Psalms, which are bound with the New Testament, are translated by Professor R. K. Harrison of Wycliffe College, Toronto. E.L.S.

EXPONDING GOD'S WORD

By Alan M. Stibbs
Wm. B. Eerdmans
$1.25

The Rev. A. M. Stibbs, associate editor of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship's New Bible Commentary, is the author of this excellent little book for preachers. He gives practical demonstrations of the preparation of sermons from single texts and longer passages. All preachers, Sunday School Teachers, and students of God's Word would find this book very profitable. E.L.S.

THE GOSPEL OF JOHN

By Ronald A. Ward
Baker Book House
$2.50

Dr. Ward, of Wycliffe College, Toronto, obviously enjoyed writing this book and those who read it will share his enjoyment. Each chapter of the Gospel is dealt with in five aspects: Historical Setting; Expository Meaning; Doctrinal Value; Practical Aim; Homiletical Form. The style is concentrated and stimulating and the book bristles with ideas, insights and illuminations which will help to make John's Gospel more loved and more useful not only to the preacher but to all readers of the Bible. The book is one of a fifteen volume series entitled Proclaiming the New Testament. E.L.S.

OUTLINE STUDIES IN MATTHEW

By W. H. Griffith Thomas
Wm. B. Eerdmans
$5.50

Mrs. Gillespie continues to deserve the thanks of Christian people for her production of yet another volume of her father's Biblical studies. In this book on Matthew's Gospel there is displayed again Dr. Griffith Thomas' keen analytical mind, his penetrating understanding of God's truth, and his clear expression of the truth for the instruction and blessing of his readers. Former Toronto Bible College students who sat under Dr. Griffith Thomas will welcome this new book, which is a splendid centennial commemoration of his birth (January 1861). E.L.S.

THE STORY OF THE CHRIST CHILD

Leon Morris
Wm. B. Eerdmans
Price: $2.50

Leon Morris' recent book "The Story of the Christ Child" brought to my mind a book of stories for primaries, in which I found one entitled "The One Story". It was a charming tale about a little girl who lived in a remote rural area of the United States. Because of isolation and poverty she had no school, no teacher, and no friends. However her mother loved the child and attempted to brighten her days by telling her a story. But she knew only one. It was the story of Jesus and His miraculous birth in Bethlehem long years ago. Although the story was told over and over again, it always seemed fresh and satisfying.

Dr. Morris has retold for us "The One Story" in his latest book. Drawing upon his fine understanding of the Greek, he has carefully worked through the text of "the story" as it is told by Luke and Matthew. His style is lucid, simple, and smooth. Reading the book is a refreshing and enriching experience. "The Story" comes alive with renewed meaning, for the author is convinced that the riches of the Greek of the New Testament "can be made available to the non-Greek reader by dint of careful explanation". With this in mind, Leon Morris wrote so that the non-specialist could share these riches. I think he succeeded.

I find this an excellent book, one that will be appreciated by all serious Christians. It can be used profitably for devotion or study. Surely we must agree with the author that "the story of Christmas is the story of the most stupendous happening in the history of the world; . . . the story of God's action for man's salvation, for Bethlehem leads right on to Calvary". "The Story of the Christ Child" is recommended reading. H.K.B.

OUT OF THE EARTH

By E. M. Blaiklock
Wm. B. Eerdmans
$2.00

Most Christians are vaguely aware that the comparatively new science of archaeology has contributed significantly to the understanding of Biblical history. That most Christian laymen know little more about the specific findings of archaeological research is due in large part perhaps to the fact that they have found books on this subject as dry and dead as the Near Eastern desert. Professor Blaiklock's little book meets a real need, therefore, in presenting the essential aspects of the witness of archaeology to the New Testament in a brilliantly concise and engaging style. To the author the story of the spade is a thrilling adventure, and he succeeds in conveying to the reader the same enthusiasm for the tale that it tells.

Blaiklock approaches his study with a deep faith in the Scriptures and with assurance that new archaeological discoveries can only confirm the trustworthiness of the Bible, even as past discoveries have done. The major weakness of the book, however, is that the author is too ready to fill in the missing threads of fragmentary archaeological evidence by mere conjecture in order to make an identification with Biblical history which is pure speculation. There are many points where it seems as if he has not exercised proper caution in evaluating the evidence, but particularly disturbing is his uncritical acceptance as authentic of uncanonical sayings attributed to Jesus.

In the main, however, the book is a very enjoyable and profitable survey. Most interesting perhaps are the sections which deal with the testimony which archaeology gives concerning the character of Pilate and the circumstances which forced him to the part he played in the crucifixion of Jesus, the fascinating tale of the part which his archaeological studies played in the conversion of Sir William Ramsay, and the role of archaeology in the interpretation of the symbolism of Revelation.

The most inspiring chapter tells the story of "The Church under Rome". In concise, moving prose Blaiklock contrasts the world-weariness of pagan Rome with the witness of the Catacombs to Christian faith. "In strangest paradox the corridors of death contained all that was truly living of ancient Rome. In the simple art and wall inscriptions is the warmth of the hope and faith." The Catacombs evidence the fact that a large proportion of the Roman populace was Christian, and that these believers were drawn from every level of society; Blaiklock sees in this a challenge. "It is clear that the world of the early church was a spiritually hungry world, craving for the consolations of religion, and that the faith from Palestine ran through its stubble like a prairie fire. The thought which emerges is this — the world in many ways was not very different from the world of today; anxious, war-ridden, disillusioned. Can Christianity do again what it did before?" R.B.S.

OUR FATHER

By E. Margaret Clarkson
Eerdmans Publishing House
Price: $2.50

The author of "Susie's Babies" has presented in very delightful style for children, a book on prayer using the beautiful and ever loved Lord's Prayer. Miss Clarkson takes this, phrase by phrase, and introduces the child to the meaning and the practice of prayer. This will be a particularly delightful book to present to children, who are able to read for themselves, for a Christmas gift that will last long after the Christmas season is finished.

Miss Clarkson once again takes the reader inside the school room and there they discuss in that very free, happy, and carefree style of the child, the tremendous lessons that are to be learned through prayer, as given to us through the one that has become perhaps all too common for the Christian public. Perhaps the real value of the book will be felt when parents get together with their children and read it chapter by chapter, and then engage with them in prayer and family devotions. D.C.P.

THE UPWARD CALLING

By R. E. O. White
Eerdmans Publishing Company
Price: $3.50

While the author has called this "Meditations on the Christian Life", it is far more than that. What we have here are deep and stirring studies on some of the basic and elementary principles for the believer in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Dr. White writes with that very wonderful gift of the dedicated and devoted Scottish theologian, and with an insight into the Scriptures and into the human elements of Christian belief that need to be understood in our own day and generation.

By the human elements, we mean his chapters on Piety and Pleasure; the Christian at Play; Vocation; the Christian at Work; and his section on Interior Resources, which deals with "A Sound Mind", a "Constraining Passion", and what Dr. White calls the ultimate ideals for the believer. It is impossible to quote at any length from this book, but there are studies here that would be of tremendous help to young Christians and those who are young in the field of Christian service. GREAT PERSONALITIES OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

By William Sanford La Sor

Fleming H. Revell Company Publishers
Price: $3.00

Dr. La Sor of Fuller Theological Seminary in California has given us a distinctive companion volume to his "Great Personalities of the Old Testament". This reviewer personally used the background studies of that first book to great advantage, and has looked forward to the opportunity of reading what the author would do with the New Testament characters. There is no disappointment in the studies that are found here.

There are eighteen chapters that roam from an excellent opening discussion on the "Fulness of Time" down through

John the Baptist, Mary the mother of Jesus, Andrew, Lazarus, Peter, Barnabas, Priscilla and Aquila, and many, many others whose stories come to new life in this very excellent volume. The final chapter on the "Triumphant Christ", which is the opening of a window into the Revelation, is a fitting and masterly climax to this series of studies.

The preacher who would dig spiritual truths out of the Word of God, particularly as they relate to the men and the women whom God was pleased to use, will find a wealth of material in this book. D.C.P.

LAZINESS

In his book, Hints for Lay Preachers, that great student of the Scriptures F. B. Meyer, wrote:

"We are all tempted to be lazy. It is possible to spend two or three hours in the study, surrounded by books, flitting like a butterfly from one to another, but girding ourselves to no great effort of thought. It is here that the pen comes in to test us.

We have often found that it is possible to read listlessly one book after another, absorbing the thoughts of others, without bringing one's mind into distinct and living contact with the truths which they may be discussing. It is so easy to allow oneself to feed on milk, which is food that has passed through the digestion of another, without exerting oneself to wrestle with the angel of truth in the dark until we extort his secret."

Where There is a WILL -

There is a Wise, Prayerful

Planning

There are two things that the Christian steward should be praying about and planning for:

1. The support of the Lord's work through regular tithes and offerings. It is often the lack of consistent support that hinders the progress of the Gospel.

The Christian steward should heed the Scriptural injunction to give regularly, cheerfully, purposefully. (2 Cor. 9:6, 7)

2. The remembrance of the Lord's work through a carefully, prayerfully drawn will.

It is said David that he "prepared abundantly before his death". (1 Chron. 22:5) Bequests made to non-profit, Christian organizations are tax-free, and will be put to the designated use of carrying on the Lord's work.

Let every Christian "prepare abundantly" for the work of the Lord and for the spreading of the Gospel of Grace.
